$200,000 PAID OVER IN KAILUA

THE FINAL SETTLEMENT OF THE LONG PENDING LITIGATION OVER THE PARKER RANCH.

The sum of $200,000 in cash or certificates of deposit on Honolulu banks, was paid over yesterday in Kailua, as first payment on the purchase of the Sam Parker interests in the Parker ranch which was bought for $600,000 by A. W. Carter, guardian of Annie T. K. Parker, minor, who owns the rest of the ranch. The balance of the $600,000 is in deferred payments at 6 per cent and $150,000 of the amount is held up, subject to a release of dower by Mrs. Parker.

The transaction was the result of lengthy negotiations following the collapse of the suit to oust Carter as guardian and put a Parker man in charge of the great estate. R. W. Breckons and S. B. Kingsbury represented Sam Parker and W. A. Kinney and S. M. Ballou were counsel for Carter. The offer of $600,000 for Sam's interests was made some time ago, and after considerable hesitation Parker notified the other side of his acceptance. The immediate result was the chartering of the steamer Helene to take the parties to Kailua, and settle the matter.

By consent, Judge Mathewman entered at Kailua a decree ordering the partition of the ranch, in accordance with the petition filed some time ago. An actual partition, without either side buying out the other would, it was claimed, have been ruinous to the estate, hence the desire for an agreement of sale. The filing of the decree in partition was followed by the payment of the $200,000 and the signing of the necessary documents, and the attorneys and others started back for Honolulu at once, arriving this morning on the Kinau.

By the terms of the sale Parker retains the following properties: 1. The homestead. 2. Fifteen acres to be selected by S. P. from the Claude Jones lot within the ahupua'a of Waikeolu, to be located on the Kona side of the paddock adjoining Kahoonohano premises. 3. Two lots at Waikeolu formerly occupied by S. P. and wife, a portion of which are now occupied by Hirohama. 4. Land of Puako, also the ponds of Kaahupua and Anahoomalu and sea beaches connected therewith, and a strip 500 feet deep back of both ponds and beaches. These reservations include the famous Hana homestead.

COULD HAVE FLOATED SHERIDAN

HAULING ON STERN MOORING YESTERDAY STARTED TRANS-PORT SEAWARD.

The transport Sheridan nearly came off the reef yesterday. In fact the salving experts at work on the vessel were all but scared to death when they found how near she had been to being floated. Had she come off the reef it would have upset their plans and incidentally probably sunk the vessel.

There is a mooring out forward and a mooring out astern. A line was run to both moorings yesterday. The winches were started to tighten up on the stern line. They did so and suddenly it was discovered that the line forward which had been slack before had tightened up. Orders to ease up on the stern line were immediately given. This fact is taken as an indication that the vessel had moved seaward. The water had not been pumped out of her, so it would have been folly to have floated the vessel at that time. After the vessel will have been relieved of the water so she can be floated, the efforts to float her will be made.

It is now thought, according to advices from the vessel, that efforts to float her will be made within a couple of days.

Democrats May Split Over Delegate

HAWAII PEOPLE ARE OPPOSED TO THE PARTY NOMINATING ANYBODY FOR DELEGATE.

Senator Palmer P. Woods and some delegates from Hawaii arrived this morning by the steamer Kinau to attend the Democratic territorial convention. The indications are that a dispute may occur in the party regarding the matter of nominating a delegate in opposition to Kuhio. The sentiment from Hawaii seems to be that there should be no delegate nominated by the Democrats this year.

The Democratic organization on Hawaii is undoubtedly the strongest and best conducted of any in the entire territory and the Hawaii people think that they should have some support from the rest of the party. The intention of the Hawaii representatives seems to be to combat all attempts to nominate a delegate this year, reserving the expense of the campaign for the next time.

The suggestion of endorsing Notley the Home Rule candidate for Congress in exchange for a Home Rule endorsement of Lauka for sheriff of Oahu county will, it is understood, be combatted by the Hawaii interests. The advices from Hawaii are to the effect that the Democrats should leave the Territorial delegate nomination blank and to ignore that feature of the campaign. The Hawaii people seem to regard such a fight as a hopeless one and the leaders assert that they do not want to see the integrity of their party organization on the Big Island injured by any such nomination no matter who the man may be.

The Home Shows Times Are Better

LESS AGED INDIGENTS AS RESULT OF MORE PROSPERITY, SAYS W. O. SMITH.

Better times in the islands are reflected in the 25th annual report of the trustees of the estate of W. C. Lunailo, deceased, which is accompanied by reports on the condition of the Lunailo Home for aged indigent Hawaiians. The home has been affected by better times causing a decrease in its attendance, says the report. The report on the home, by W. O. Smith, concludes as follows:

"The general business of the community of these islands having improved during the past year or two, the number of inmates has consequently lessened. It is noticeable that during hard times the number of inmates increased and with better times the number diminishes. The report for 1905 showed a daily average attendance of 62.2, which was the highest daily average since the home was established, and the cost per capita was $184.55 as against $198.94 for the year 1904.

"The average daily attendance for the past year has been 59 at a cost per capita of $197.21.

"It is very much to be regretted that the Lunailo Home, which is the only institution in the nature of a poor house in these islands, is not exempt from taxation. The property is assessed at full value and the taxes amount to over $800 a year besides $250 a year for water furnished from the public water works. The government contributes nothing for the support of the poor as such and it would seem as

MANCHURIA NEEDS A BIG BOND

SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS SECURITY BEFORE SHE CAN LEAVE PORT.

A bond of six hundred thousand dollars will be required to release the steamship Manchuria, under the ordinary rules of admiralty procedure, in view of the libel for $300,000 placed on her yesterday by the cable company, for services rendered by the Restorer. The rule is that the bond must be twice the amount sued for. By stipulation, however, a smaller bond may be accepted. The Pacific Mail Company is anxious to get the Manchuria away, either for San Francisco or some far eastern port, where repairs can be made, and she will be quickly released. She is at present in charge of Charles Mulletner, as special deputy marshal.

The question of the Restorer's right, as a British vessel, to engage in salvage in these waters, has been discussed in view of the suit, and it is thought by some that this question will be raised as the first line of defense. The attorneys for the cable company, however, declare that there is no question about the Restorer's right to do the work.

"It is a fundamental proposition of admiralty law," said S. M. Ballou, who represents the cable company in the action, "that the nationality of a vessel has nothing whatever to do with salvaging operations. The whole idea of the salvage laws is to encourage any vessel, of whatsoever nationality, to go to the rescue of vessels in distress. The matter of nationality of the Restorer is of no importance in the case."

The Restorer was the most constant of all the steamers that pulled on the Manchuria. She stood by day and night, holding on constantly, though not using all of her tremendous power except at times when attempts were being made to pull the big steamer off. It was reported during the operations that arrangements had been made whereby there were definite contracts for services to be rendered, and that there would therefore be no libels or salvage claims. The suit by the Restorer put an end to such ideas, and it was at once expected that a number of others would follow. Services of more or less value are said to have been rendered by the Eleu, Fearless, several inter-island steamers, dredger Pacific, Pioneer and scow Melancthon. There is a prospect of long litigation, probably ending only in the Supreme Court of the United States.
